

Heaven is Real

There's government corruption endless strife and racial wars
News of Jihad terrorists coming to our shores
Tomorrow is uncertain no one knows what's in store
Word is on the street hope don't live here anymore

Evil does it's best to make us think this life is all there is
And there ain't no sense believing in religious promises
About a place someday where pain and death will cease to exist
But the cross still lights the way and the shining truth is this

Heaven is real heaven is real
Whatever you may think or feel you can be sure
Heaven is real heaven is real

Scientists and athiests all shout out their decree
We're nothin more than creatures that evolved from the sea
There's no better world awaiting for the souls of you and me
So we trade eternal longings for a treasure we can see

Seduced by the good life they always advertise
We get the house the car the membership but it never satisfies
And though we wish that there was something more most never realize
For those who put their faith and their trust in Jesus Christ

There was a time God walked among us as a man
To share the Father's love and His eternal plan
That through his death and resurrection we'd be saved
Now since his victory for us over the grave lyrics copyright 2016 Scott Seabock