

Speak to Me

Here I go again in this now familiar pose
Down on my knees to discover what the future holds
Friends and family they offer up their help
To win this latest hand in life which I've been dealt

But this decision is beyond what human eyes can see
It's effects could surely reach into eternity
So I want to honor you I want to pass this test

Give me the wisdom God you alone possess

Speak to me.. I really need to hear your voice
Speak to me Lord .. penetrating all this noise
Speak to me.. reveal the path that I should take

Speak to me Lord.. I'm listening for every word you say

I've made this same mistake so many times before
Rush to an answer and force my way to break down any door
A proud and blind man who always thought I knew what's right

But out of the darkness now I call upon your guiding light to

I've come to seek you Lord to seek your face
I bow before you before your throne of grace
Confusion fills my mind but onne thing I know
You have the words of life I need

Where else can I go..so

Speak to me.. I really need to hear your voice
Speak to me Lord .. penetrating all this noise
Speak to me.. reveal the path that I should take

Speak to me Lord.. I'm listening for every word you say

lyrics copyright 2016 Scott Seabock

