

Your Word

Your word is a comfort to my soul... your word is the truth that sets me free
Your word is a light unto my path... your word is a lamp unto my feet

Help me hide it in my heart let it keep me from sin
Until the truth of who you are reveals your kingdom from within

Your word is the rising of the sun..your word is an ever faithful friend
Your word is a fire burning bright..your word leads me to the journey's end

Help me hide it in my heart let it keep me from sin
Until the truth of who you are reveals your kingdom from within

A beacon in the darkness a shelter from the storm
A healing to my troubled life when my life is bruised and torn
A weary traveler's place of rest the lonely pilgrims compass home

The unseen path of mercy and grace that lead to heaven's throne

Help me hide it in my heart let it keep me from sin
Until the truth of who you are reveals your kingdom from within lyrics copyright 2016 Scott Seabock